

One Off Productions was founded in 2020 by Michael Lees with the launching of his award-winning documentary, Uncivilized. One Off's focus is creating visual stories that resonate with viewers, often working around themes of connection, culture, and nature.

We have produced videos for clients including UNICEF, IFC World Bank, & The FAO, produced documentaries, commercials, and music videos, and provided on location services (DP, Producer, Production Coordinator) for clients in Dominica including National Geographic, Royal Caribbean, & CETI.

One Off Is based in the Commonwealth of Dominica.

DOCUMENTARY PRODUCTION

UNCIVILIZED, 2020

A young filmmaker, Michael Lees, sets off to the forest with minimal tools and a question, "What makes for a good life?" But 3 months into his sojourn, one of the most devastating hurricanes to ever be birthed by the Atlantic Ocean, cat. 5 Hurricane Maria, hits his island, leaving Michael and his country to grapple with survival like never before.

The film made its film festival debut in 2019 at the Trinidad & Tobago Film Festival, and went on to screen at festivals across the US, Caribbean, and a handful of festivals in Europe. It won the Caribbean Spirit Award at The Barbados Independent Film Festival, and the Villa Romana Award at the African Diaspora Cinema Festival in Florence. It has also received celebrity endorsement by NY Times bestselling author John Perkins, & Soca superstar Machel Montano. It currently holds a rating of 9.5 on IMDB.

CREATIVE REPAIR,

A series of 6 biographies centring around the artistic practice of Dominican visual artists, poets and musicians whose art works towards personal and collective healing in the wake of disaster. Produced as part of the Caribbean Cyclone Cartography Project.

Currently in a non-exclusive distribution agreement. Looking for other possible distributors.

THE DOMINICA VETIVER PROJECT, 2021

The Dominica Vetiver Project follows participants & project leader Vonnie Roudette as she introduces Vetiver grass in numerous communities, including The Kalinago Territory, the last home of the Caribbean's indigenous Kalinago people. Integral to Vonnie's grassroots work, the vetiver serves as a low cost soil erosion intervention, a means of making money through craft, and an enricher of soil for farming.

The film screened at the Green Screen Environmental Film Festival in Trinidad and the Hairouna Film Festival in St Vincent.

IN DEVELOPMENT

DEEP ADAPTATION DOCUSERIES

The Search for Indigenous & Alternative Solutions to Surviving Climate Change in the 21st Century

“Deep Adaptation” is a “travel” docuseries where we search for climate adaptations from indigenous & alternative perspectives that can be applied to survive 21st Century climate change, told through a central character in each episode.

Climate Change is no longer a question of if. The question now is: how will we survive? And to find the answers we will look towards those who have been doing it in a relationship to nature for millennia.

We are underway shooting a sizzle with Ras Moses in Delices - focusing this episode on food security and herbal medicine
